"Faceless Voices From The Choir Loft"

Joan Fuerstman

Our second faceless voice from the choir loft, Joan Fuerstman, was born and grew up in Charlotte, North Carolina. Although her parents were affiliated with the Reform temple in Charlotte, Joan's maternal grandfather was one of the founding members of one of the first Conservative synagogues there.

As a teenager in a relatively small city, Joan was active in programs sponsored by both the Conservative and Reform synagogues, such as B'nai B'rith Girls and NFTY. Her introduction to liturgical music came at an early age at Temple Israel (Conservative) where she often sang in the youth services and was involved in musical programs to which she lent her mezzo-soprano voice.

After high school, she went to the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro, where she obtained her B.M. degree in voice. Her professional singing career began while she was in college, after she won the North Carolina Symphony Young Artist Award. Then, after graduating, with a full two year scholarship to the Manhattan School of Music, Joan came to New York City and earned her Master of music degree there, studying with Rose Bampton. Thereafter, she won a fellowship to the Tanglewood Summer Music Festival where she studied with Phyllis Curtin.

In fact, it was when she first came to N.Y. that Joan first met Abraham Kaplan, conductor for our liturgical music services, and worked with him as a soloist when he was with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Before coming to the Park Avenue Synagogue as a soloist in 1983, she sang at Temple Israel in Great Neck, N.Y. where Richard Tucker belonged before his death, and, thereafter, at Temple Emanuel in New York City. She began at Park Avenue Synagogue as a special concert soloist and substitute singer, later to become a permanent member of the quartet, enhancing our Shabbat and Festival services with her magnificent mezzo-soprano renditions.

Besides, during the last six years, she served as the cantorial soloist at Congregation Rodeph

From The Rabbi's Desk

This article was written by my father, Captain F. Ashe Lincoln, RNR, about an incident during World War II. It is an interesting piece of history.

I Was There — Bari, 1943

In October, 1943, I was serving with No. 30 Marine Commando which was at Bari on the Adriatic. Our commando was unique in that it consisted of Royal Marines under the overall command of Naval officers and was used for specific naval tasks and a number of unusual operations. Our particular task at that time was the setting up of a naval base just off the coast of Yugoslavia and the transfer of supplies to guerrilla units operating against the Germans in occupied Yugoslavia. While engaged in these operations, I received information from Tito's Partisan officers that islands in the northern Adriatic which had been occupied by Partisan forces were being gradually retaken by German armies. Furthermore, many thousands of refugees from the violent pro-Nazi Ustachi in Croatia had taken refuge in these islands under the protection of the Partisans who felt, that in the face of superior German attacks, they were unable to afford them continued protection.

I had sent some small part of the Marines to support the Partisans in the islands. But the forces at our disposal were wholly inadequate to withstand Nazi attacks. At a conference with the Partisan leaders, it was decided that the safest course was to evacuate these refugees, who numbered several thousand, from the islands. I had no means of discovering the exact identity of the refugees. But from all indications, it appeared that they must be Jewish refugees. Communication with the islands concerned was difficult. But I was informed one day quite suddenly that the refugees had all been put into some 22 small craft and advised to attempt the crossing of the Adriatic in order to reach the southern Italian ports which were occupied by our forces. German activity in the northern Adriatic was being fully supported by intensive air support and the danger to these small craft was that they might be sunk by aircraft cannon fire unless given some protection on their journey. Immediately, on hearing the steps that the Partisans had taken, I contacted Commander Welman, R.N., who commanded British Naval Coastal Forces in the area. I began to explain to him the peril that faced these refugees and their plight, but he cut me short by saying "you need not explain to me what the Jews are suffering because my wife is Jewish and I know all about it and fully sympathize with you and your people."

He immediately agreed to provide me with a force of six gun boats to set out on patrol in an effort to locate the refugee ships, and, in the meanwhile, we were able to make arrangements with the local companies of the Guards Regiments to prepare accommodations for the refugees when they arrived.

The six gun boats were fully briefed on the situation and a plan of search was worked out. I found that all the lieutenants commanding the gun boats were most enthusiastic to rescue these refugees and bring them back.

One of the gun boats was under the command of a Jewish lieutenant, David Roamine, R.N.V.R., whose family I had known in London. At the earliest possible moment the gun boats set sail. But, shortly afterwards, I learned the rather alarming news that one fishing boat had been machine-gunned and driven ashore, and the crew, including one of my own officers, had been wounded and captured. This was, in fact, Lt. Cdr. Guy Morgan, who after the became celebrated as the author of the "Albert RN." This boat, as it turned out, was not one of those containing the escaping refugees, although at the time I did not realize that this was the position. However, our gun boats successfully found the refugee ships and es-

Sholom's "downstairs" High Holy Day services for four of the six years, and has been the cantorial soloist at Temple Beth Chavairuth in Tenafly, N.J. for both the High Holy Days and Friday Night Services for the past two years.

Joan said that her first real exposure to Jewish liturgical music and the variety in the world of hazzanim came about through Cantor Robert Siegel at the Conservative Temple Israel in Charlotte, N.C. who invited her to sing and record a duet with Hazzan David Kusevitsky.

She also said that she considers Cantor David Lefkowitz to be a real mentor. Encouraged by him, she is studying Hebrew at Hunter College and has taken and plans to take other necessary courses with the goal of becoming a certified cantor.

Up to this point I've discussed only the Jewish side of Joan's career, for which we appreciate her so much. But there is a secular side to her career as well. She is a professional singer of classical music: art songs and Lieder, opera and oratorio. As such, she has performed as a soloist under conductors Leonard Bernstein, Pierre Boulez and Abraham Kaplan, and has appeared many times as a soloist with: the New York Philharmonic; Musica Sacra; the N.Y. Choral Society; the Bach Aria Group; the Amor Artis Choral; and the Camarata Singers.

In addition, she spent three years as a soloist with N.Y. Pro Musica, a group that performs Renaissance music all over the U.S. and South America.

Moreover, she also has sung with the N.Y. City Opera, and with the National and Turnau Opera Companies, and has made several recordings with the N.Y. Philharmonic, N.Y. Pro Musica, and Musica Sacra. She also teaches voice privately.

On the lighter, less classical side, she appeared in outdoor summer productions while in college, in dinner-theater productions such as "The Sound of Music," in which she played the role of the nun, Mother Abess, and in USO tours to Panama.

She says she would like to continue developing both her Jewish and her secular musical careers.

But, as if her dual career as a classical singer were not lively enough, her career as the mother of three teenagers: one daughter already a freshman in college; another daughter, who is a gifted violinist, on the road to college this coming fall; and her youngest, a son, 15, who is asserting his independence with a more modern taste in music, is certainly enough to keep her challenged.

We want her to know that we appreciate her singing and we wish her continuing success in all her endeavors.

corted them to safety in Bari Harbor, where the passengers were taken ashore and carefully nursed and accommodated. Many of them required immediate medical attention, which the British Forces provided.

As a postscript to this incident, I was able, on my return to England at the end of November, to call the attention of the World Jewish Congress and the American Joint Distribution Committee to the plight of these refugees and immediate relief measures were put into effect.

Presentations were made to the British Government, who granted entry visas for the whole party to Palestine, and, ultimately, all the refugees found a home there. Years later, in 1948, when I was forming the Israel Navy at the time of the creation of the State of Israel, I was one day accosted by a young Haganah officer who said he remembered me from Bari because he had been one of the children among the refugees.

This is your opportunity to see what they are talking about! In addition, during the pre-holiday period, you will have an opportunity to try some of the wines at the synagogue's Shabbat morning kiddushim.

REMEMBER THE DAILY MINYANIM!

Women's Evening Group Theater Party Thursday Evening, April 19 "Death and the Maiden"

This new three-character play starring Glenn Close, Richard Dreyfuss, and Gene Hackman, and directed by Mike Nichols, is a nail-bitingly tense political thriller by the Chilean playwright Ariel Dorfman. The play tells of a woman who was tortured 15 years ago during a repressive dictatorship, but has since married a liberal lawyer. How she plots revenge on her attacker is a thriller in the best traditions of "Sleuth" and "Deathtrap," but underlaid with political and social arguments which give immense ethical power to this revenge drama.

The cost is $65 per ticket, made payable to Women's Evening Group, Park Avenue Synagogue. Send along with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Park Avenue Synagogue, 50 East 87th St., N.Y. 10128 Attn: WEG

Early Childhood Center Nursery School Applications

Member families who would like to apply to the Park Avenue Synagogue Early Childhood Center for the 1993-94 school year are asked to call the school and request an application form between May 1st and June 15th, 1992 (after that date the school will be closed until mid-August).

All children who will be two years and four months by September 1, 1993 are eligible for school that September. The Park Avenue Synagogue Early Childhood Center adheres strictly to its cut-off dates. Families who have been long time members of the synagogue are given priority. However, priority does not always guarantee acceptance because of the need to balance groups in a variety of ways.

There is an application fee of $40.00 per child. The application process includes a required visit and tour of the school by one or both parents, and a play session/interview for the child.

For the September, 1992 school year there were approximately 50 openings. Applications were accepted from over 70 member families. We would have liked to have been able to accept everyone who applied.

It will be very helpful to have some idea in advance of September, 1992 how many eligible member families are interested in a place for 1993-94. This will enable us to determine approximately how many applications from new members or non-member families we will be able to accept. Thank you for your cooperation.

Passover Dietary Laws

Prohibited Foods

Prohibited Foods include: leavened bread, cakes, biscuits, crackers, cereal, coffee with cereal derivatives in them, wheat, barley, oats, spelt, rye, and all liquids containing ingredients or flavors made from grain alcohol. In addition, most Ashkenazic authorities have added the following foods to the above list: rice, corn, millet, legumes (beans, peas, peanuts; but string beans are permitted). Some Ashkenazic authorities permit, while others forbid the use of legumes in a form other than its natural state, for example, corn sweeteners, corn oil, soy oil, peanut oil. Sephardic authorities permit the use of all of the above. Consult Rabbi Lincoln for guidance in the use of these products.

Permitted Foods

A. The following foods require no kosher lePesah label if purchased prior to Pesah: unopened packages or containers of natural coffee (without cereal additives), sugar, pure tea, salt, pepper, natural spices, fruit juices with no additives (frozen, canned, or bottled), frozen (uncooked) vegetables (for legumes, see above), milk, butter, cottage cheese, cream cheese, tuna in water (no oil added), frozen (uncooked) fruit (with no additives), baking soda.

B. The following foods require no kosher lePesah label if purchased either before or during Pesah: fresh fruits and vegetables (except for legumes above), eggs, fresh fish and fresh meat.

C. The following foods require a kosher lePesah label if purchased either before or during Pesah: All baked products (matzah, cakes, matzah flour, farfel, matzah meal, and any products containing matzah), wine, vinegar, liquor, oils, dried fruits, candy, chocolate flavored milk, ice cream, yogurt, and soda.

D. The following foods require a kosher lePesah label if purchased during Pesah: Processed foods (canned, frozen, or bottled): milk, butter, juices, vegetables, fruit, milk products, spices, coffee, tea, and fish, as well as all foods listed in category C.

Detergents: If permitted during the year, powdered and liquid detergents do not require a kosher lePesah label.

Medicine: Since hametz binders are used in many pills, the following guidelines should be followed: If the medicine is required for life sustaining therapy, it may be used during Pesah. If it is not for life sustaining therapy, some authorities permit, while others prohibit. Consult Rabbi Lincoln. In all cases, capsules are preferable.

Kashering of Utensils

The process of kashering utensils depends on how the utensils are used. According to halakhah, leaven can be purged from a utensil by the same process in which it was absorbed in the utensil. Therefore, utensils used in cooking are kashered by boiling, those used in broiling are kashered by fire and heat, and those used only for cold food are kashered by rinsing.

A. Earthenware (china, pottery, etc.) may not be kashered. But fine translucent chinaware which has not been used for over a year may be used if scoured and cleaned in hot water.

B. Metal (wholly made of metal) used in fire (spit, broiler) must first be thoroughly scrubbed and cleansed and then made as hot as possible. Those used for cooking and eating (silverware, pots) must be thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned and completely immersed in boiling water. Pots should have water boiled in them which will overflow the rim. The utensils should not be used for a period of at least 24 hours between the cleaning and the immersion in boiling water. Metal baking utensils cannot be kashered.

In Celebration of Passover

C. Oven and Ranges: Every part that comes in contact with food must be thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned. Then, oven and range should be heated as hot as possible for a half hour. If there is a broil setting, use it. Self cleaning ovens should be scrubbed and cleaned and then put through the self-cleaning cycle. Continuous cleaning ovens must be kashered in the same manner as regular ovens. Microwave ovens, which do not cook the food by means of heat, should be cleaned and then a cup of water should be placed in it. Then the oven should be turned on until the water disappears. A microwave oven that has a browning element cannot be kashered.

D. Glassware: Authorities disagree as to the method for kashering drinking utensils. One opinion requires soaking in water for three days, changing the water every 24 hours, while the other opinion requires only a thorough scrubbing before Pesah or putting it through a dishwasher.

E. Dishwasher: After not using the machine for a period of 24 hours, a full cycle with detergent should be run.

F. Electrical Appliances: If the parts that come into contact with hametz are removable, they can be kashered in the appropriate way (if metal, follow the rules for metal utensils). If the parts are not removable, the appliance cannot be kashered. (All exposed parts should be thoroughly cleaned.)

G. Tables, closets, and counters: If used with hametz, they should be thoroughly cleaned and covered, and then they may be used.

H. Kitchen sink: A metal sink can be kashered by a thorough cleaning and by pouring boiling water over it. A porcelain sink should be cleaned and a sink rack used. If, however, dishes are to be soaked in a porcelain sink, a dish basin must be used.

I. Hametz and non-Passover utensils: Non-Passover dishes, pots and hametz whose ownership has been transferred, should be separated, locked up or covered, and marked so as to prevent accidental use.

The Committee For The Homeless

Committee Changes Name To Reflect Its Mission

The Committee For The Homeless is changing its name to better reflect what it does.

The Committee was formed three years ago in response to the obvious growing need to service the increasing homeless population on our streets.

Upon investigation, the Committee began several programs in cooperation with Women In Need, the Metropolitan New York Coordinating Council on Jewish Poverty, Project Provide, and the Interfaith Assembly on Homelessness and Housing.

With the recent influx of Soviet emigres into our city, the Committee established a Job Bank at Park Avenue Synagogue and has held various clothing drives. As it is made aware of other needs, the Committee will respond and again will ask for the cooperation and help of the congregation.

For these reasons, the Committee has changed its name to "The Committee For The Homeless and Community Outreach" or Tikkun Olam, which in Hebrew means "repairing the world."

To learn more about the Committee, its work, and how you can help, please call either Carol Antler at 861-7181 or Joann Rosoff at 348-4531.

Clothing Drive For Children's Camp Clothes May 4-6
